

Furniture Today

Business Intelligence for the Furniture Industry

FurnitureToday.com

MONDAY, April 24, 2017 | v41 i34

Home of the Future

Commerce Avenue & Main Street

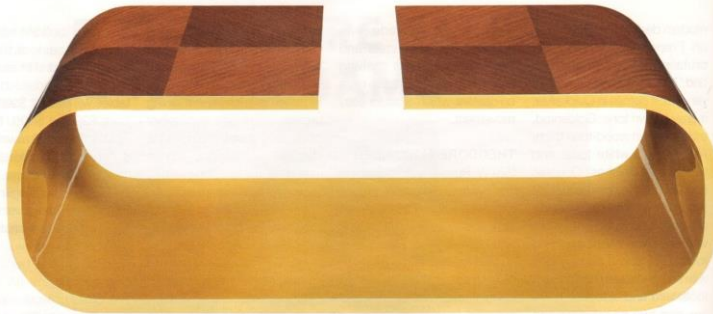

April 22-26

#HFmarkethouse

40th Anniversary

114 April 22 - May 7, 2017 FurnitureToday.com

Market Guide: Occasional

STUDIO MHNA
Decca Home cocktail table

Decca Home teams up with Paris design group for Inversion collection

By Powell Slaughter
Senior Editor
@PowellSlaughter

AT THE MARKET — Decca Home is launching a collection in collaboration with Paris-based design group Studio MHNA this week to produce Inversion by Decca Home.

The new collection is in the Decca Home/Bolier & Co. High Point Market showroom, located at 311 N. Hamilton St. The 24-piece Inversion collection includes complementary tables, consoles and multi-functional case pieces, along with upholstered seating.

Studio MHNA was founded by designers Marc Hertrich and Nicholas Adnet, who are internationally recognized for their work in the luxury, boutique and resort hotel segments, along with other prominent interior projects.

For their first residential furnishings collection, Hertrich and Adnet aim to reflect a certain French spirit, referencing classical silhouettes with contemporary flair. Following a great tradition of cabinetmaking in France, the duo highlights exceptional veneer craft and finishing on many of the new items.

Studio MHNA describes the new line as having both masculine and feminine characteristics. Wood furniture is available in both light and dark finishes. ■

This unique cocktail table is part of Inversion by Decca Home.

SOFAFORM
IHFC D-745

The Chelsea sofa bed is one of several on tap at this market and is made in Italy.

DECCA HOME

311 N. Hamilton St., 3rd Floor
The Inversion collection by Studio MHNA includes 24 case pieces along with upholstered seating.

